Voting is open for the UK's favourite Green Flag parks

Bushy Park is up for the prestigious People's Choice Award

Park visitors across the UK are being given the chance to decide which Green Flag parks should receive a People's Choice Award for being the UK's favourites.

In July this year, the Green Flag experts had their say and Bushy Park succeeded in retaining their Green Flag status with some of the highest marks awarded in the scheme. The judges feedback included:

"The park is of historical importance, valued by local users and residents, tourists, local schools and educationalist, ecologists and local businesses, all with long associated community involvement and investment."

The park management is "of the highest standard setting great examples of good practice, policies and procedures throughout the site. Highly skilled staff supporting apprenticeships and trainees. Senior management team at every level where exceptional."

Now, it is up to the nation to choose which 10 parks and green spaces should receive a coveted People's Choice award.

Simon Richards, Head of Parks Operations at The Royal Parks, said: "Whether you enjoy visiting our parks to soak up the historic natural environment, enjoy world-class events, exercise in beautiful surroundings or simply get away from the hustle and bustle of London, now's your chance to celebrate your incredible park by voting for it to be recognised as one of the nation's favourites."

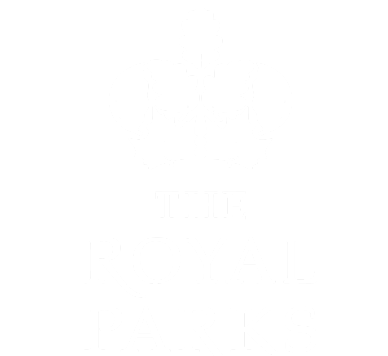

Paul Todd, Green Flag Award Manager, added: "The People's Choice award is a chance to show how much your favourite park means to you. If it's worth shouting about, make your voice heard and vote now."

Voters can visit www.greenflagaward.org or follow the buttons below to vote.

You can also encourage others to get involved, please forward this email and share on social media using the hashtag #PeoplesChoice.

Voting is open now and closes on 30 September, with the top 10 sites being announced on 16 October.
